MLK's Legacy to the Church: Understanding his "Letter from the Birmingham City Jail"

His words were addressed to a group of clergy members in 1963. They have renewed meaning for the Church today, especially as White Supremacy and hate crimes are on the rise.

On April 12, 1963 Martin Luther King Jr. was arrested for breaking an Alabama injunction against demonstrations in Birmingham. He was placed in solitary confinement. On April 16th he saw a letter signed by eight Alabama clergymen published in the New York Times in which they criticized King for being an "outside agitator" and the Birmingham Movement for being "extreme."

Dr. King's now-famous letter says that people have a moral responsibility to break unjust laws and to take direct action, rather than waiting potentially forever for justice to come through the courts. (He also cites Aquinas and St. Augustine in explaining the difference between just and unjust laws).

It's the document that gives us one of his most famous quotes, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny."

This month, come and hear the whole letter.

The parish's Anti-Racism Working Group will host: A Reading of MLK's Letter from the Birmingham City Jail, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, January 26. The group will show a film created by Ohio State University. The film features 40 prominent leaders reading the full letter. The evening will include time for discussion and prayer.

Dr. King's letter still has a profound message for church members today – that means all of us. In our current world where racial hatred, anti-Semitic threats and violence are up – in a world where voting rights are being eroded, isn't it time for us to pay attention too?

Isn't this the time to educate ourselves, to speak out against hatred, and to more fully embrace what Jesus taught us? Catholic Social Teaching, a group of beliefs professed and fully endorsed by the Church, includes the principle of human dignity and equal rights for everyone.

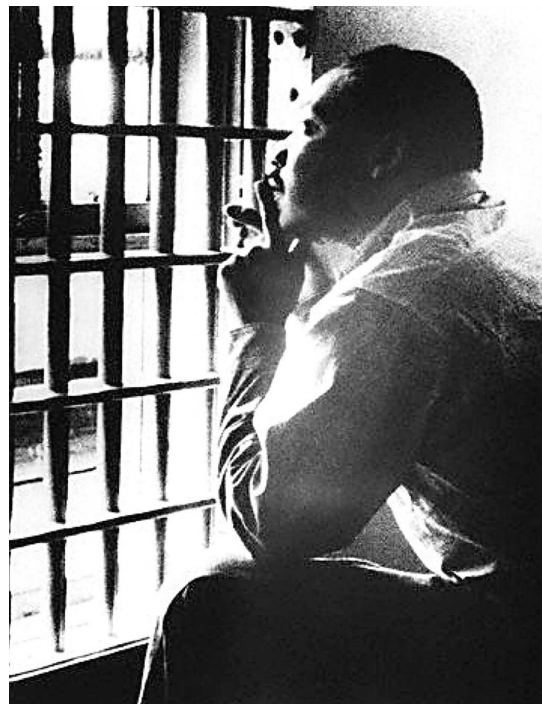

These teachings are not new. More than 100 years ago, Pope Leo XIII addressed human rights and economic justice (Rerum Novarum, 1891). Human dignity, and a love for our fellow brothers and sisters is simply Gospel-based. It's what Jesus asked for all of us.

If you can't make it to our presentation on Jan. 26, we hope you'll read the letter for yourself, https://kinginstitute.stanford.edu/sites/mlk/files/letterfrombirmingham_www_0.pdf

Or view the film: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_cT397uOak

Hopefully we'll see you on Jan. 26 to hear the words of MLK, to discuss their meaning for us today, and to close with prayer for racial healing, and a better world for all.

EUCCHARISTIC ADORATION

WEDNESDAYS | 5:45 PM

"One cannot know the Lord without this habit of adoring, of adoring in silence. I believe, if I am not mistaken, this prayer of adoration is the prayer least known by us, it is the one we do the least", as if it were a "waste of time before the Lord, before the mystery of Jesus Christ". Instead, we should rediscover "the silence of Adoration: he is the Lord and I adore him." -Pope Francis

Eucharistic Adoration will be available each Wednesday in the Church from 5:45pm-9:00pm.

Please sign up as we are in need of 2 adorers per time slot. Thank you for supporting this ministry! shorturl.at/moSX7
